

PLUMPJACK
WINERY

2001
PlumpJack
Syrah
Russian River Valley

THE WINE...

is 100% Syrah was grown on a small estate vineyard in the Russian River Valley
in Sonoma County, California

THE STORY...

this Syrah was carefully located and blended by the winemaker at PlumpJack to evoke traditional Rhone styling, depth and grace. The resulting wine is very complex and has wonderful years ahead of it.

BOTTLING...

of the 2001 Syrah took place on January 23, 2003

NOTES...

Originally a Northern Rhone varietal from France, Syrah has been planted with great success in California. We are impressed by this Syrah's complexity and weight which holds true to the Rhone tradition.

This wine evokes memories of orange peel, black tea, blueberries, rose petals and violets in the aroma. Appropriately for a Rhone varietal, this medium-bodied red wine incorporates bright cherry flavors, light cedar, cocoa, black tea tannin, rich vanilla and ripe, plush fruit which culminates in a sweet, earthy finish.
This wine should cellar well for 5 to 7 years.
